

Chetan Parmar, Parmarbrook

Chetan is the Managing Director of Parmarbrook, providing overall leadership, vision and culture for the practice.

Guiding the management and delivery of Parmarbrook's projects, Chetan remains passionate about a design led process and adopts a hands-on approach with core projects; whether it is sketching through designs at concept stage, walking sites or detailed design reviews, he always aims to deliver the most intelligent and efficient structural solution.

Chetan has been at the forefront of many major building projects for over thirty years, both within the UK and internationally, facilitating strong relationships with leading clients and architects. A number of notable projects include 20 Fenchurch Street, Bank of America HQ, DEFRA HQ, and Tesco's biggest ever development at Woolwich Central.

With a particular focus on large mixed-use developments and office schemes, Chetan is spearheading the practice's expansion into international markets.

Parmarbrook was co-founded by Chetan in 2011 after several years as a Director at global consultancies; Halcrow Yolles and Waterman Group.
